This document consists of two groups of each set up according to the same format, pertaining to the 1951 material requirements of the TRO. NOTE: Generally, this abbreviation stands for the Oberschoeneweide Transformer Plant, but it is stated under "Subject" that this is the Dresden Transformer and X-Ray Plant, which was formerly the Koch and Stergel firm. One group, covering 41 pages, itemizes those materials required for 1951 production which are to be imported. The other group, covering 36 pages, consists of the 1951 material requirements to be covered from the production of the Ministry for Heavy Industry.

Both groups contain the following information: a) plan position number and name of item; b) DIN (German Industrial Standard), that is, type, quality, and dimensions of item, and other technical data; c) quantity in tons; d) required delivery date; e) amount of the allotment still needed; f) date of order; g) office where order was placed -- German Trade Center branch or German Foreign Trade Organization; h) name of supplier plant or country, if known; 1) supplier plant's or DAHA's order number, if known.

The materials on order include profile tool steel, max cold-drawn bar steel, seamless gas pipes, transformer plate, and free-cutting steel.
